

Mr Stedman,

As I missed you at the end of my day with you today , I wanted pass on some thanks and observations from my time with your pupils. Can I firstly thank you for the hospitality and detailed organisation both ahead of my visit and during the day itself , enabling a suitable amount of time to be spent with each year group and in the room most suited to the presentation and the movement of pupils.

Secondly as we discussed briefly after the first couple of sessions , it was very notable as an officer who visits a number of Dorset`s Primary school`s that your teaching team has clearly invested time in educating the children around their personal information and an understanding of privacy in relation to their online presence – this was evident from Reception through to Year 6 and enabled productive discussion with all groups.

The behaviour on the day was exemplary and your pupils were enthusiastic, happy to be involved and able to present their opinions confidently (almost without exception with respect from their peers). As a first time visitor to St Georges, I am hopeful that I get further opportunities to come and work with you all.

Regards,

Stuart
